Boston and Veolia, the global leader in environmental solutions

Aligned vision for sustainable growth

Veolia is an integral part of the City of Boston and the commonwealth of Massachusetts. Our district energy system ensures patients are comfortable and safe, national treasures are secure, important research and development continues, and business and industry carries on uninterrupted. To more than 650,000 Massachusetts residents, we supply clean, safe drinking water and protect our natural resources through proper treatment of wastewater.

Our employees tackle some of the toughest environmental and infrastructure challenges for cities and industry. More than 700 employees in the commonwealth and 7,900 in North America are energy engineers, chemists, water treatment operators, mechanics, lab technicians, financial experts and technology experts.

Our mission is Resourcing the World. It's facilitating access to resources by developing sustainable access to water, energy and raw materials. It's protecting natural resources through sustainable processes. It's replenishing resources.

We believe this mission aligns with the sustainable vision and future of the City of Boston.

More than $168 million in regional infrastructure investment, greater than $20 million in job creation, and our partnership with the city and commonwealth for economic growth and re-development illustrate our commitment to Boston and our aligned visions.

More than 7,900 North American employees proudly tackle some of the toughest environmental and infrastructure challenges.
